

HABRE-DE-VENTURE (NPS)

Rose Hill Road, near the junction of Maryland Routes 225 and 6, Port Tobacco

This informally arranged brick and frame house was the home of Thomas Stone, member of the Continental Congress and a signer of the Declaration of Independence from Maryland. The central section of the five-part structure that Stone began in 1771 burned in 1977 but has since been stabilized. In addition to the house, the property includes several early agricultural buildings and a small family graveyard where Stone is buried. The property is now the Thomas Stone National Historic Site.
